Deputy Assessor Glenn Sorey's Office A Jeep

Why hasn't the county provided Glenn Sorey, Deputy County Assessor, with an office in Carmel? Sorey, who works from his home, told the Pine Cone yesterday that the chances of having an office before April are non-existent.

"Why should the county pay rent for an office for me when I could never be in it. I'm doing outside work, now. Out all day, brrrrrrrr!"

Brrr and no foolin'. Sorey drives around in a yellow jeep, open to the elements. He has some 190 new structures in the Carmel and Pebble Beach area to look over and enter on his assessment list.

Besides, the county is a little pouty over Sorey's office situation. Carmel is the only city in the county that doesn't provide free office space to the deputy assessor. Carmel says, "Sorry, but we just don't have the room."

Gene Ricketts Will Ask Council For Full Time City Recreation Director

"Carmel should have a Recreation Director," Councilman Gene Ricketts told a Parent-Teacher panel discussion group at Sunset School Monday afternoon, adding that he will suggest such an appointment at the next regular council meeting.

"Although the city of Carmel takes an indirect part in many recreational activities, there is no official officer to coordinate local activities of the school board and the city," Ricketts told The Pine Cone Thursday. "Coach George Mosolf is doing a fine job with his summer program, but it's just too much for one man to handle. It would be to the city's advantage to appoint such a director, to be under supervision of either the council or the school trustees, or both."

Ricketts added that the proposal is still in the suggestion stage and that he intends to discuss the matter informally with council members and other officials before presenting it at the February meeting.

Hearty approval of the proposal was voiced by Superintendent Stuart Mitchell, who told P.T.A. members of Mosolf's able work in directing 331 activities during the 36 weeks of the past school year.

"I feel the time is ripe for Carmel to have a City Recreation Director," Mitchell said. "We educators feel that the city and school programs should be coordinated under one director, if the children are to receive full benefit."

Other speakers introduced by forum chairman Mrs. Paul Chedester included Mrs. Herbert T. Seipel, who spoke on home and parental responsibilities, and Sunset Principal Arthur Hull, who outlined extracurricular recreation activities in the elementary school. Listed as major items in the program were James Blee's Junior Audubon Society monthly field trips, Miss Neill Rush's girls' sports, Orville Rogers' boys' sports, and shop meetings for both boys and girls conducted by Ernest C. Calley.

Colder'n Blitzen All Around Here, But It May Warm Up

With Weather Bureau predictions promising "temperatures rising to near normal over the weekend," Monterey Peninsula's shivering inhabitants found relief this week. Wednesday and Thursday readings from Salinas, Monterey, and Carmel showed a ten-degree rise in temperature over Monday's unprecedented low.

In the Carmel area, lowest official temperature was recorded by the California Water and Telephone Company at San Clemente dam, Carmel Valley, where the mercury dropped to 14 degrees early Monday morning. Worst sufferers were caretakers at the dam, whose cottage is at 650 feet elevation. Wednesday night's temperature had risen to 24.

At the Forest Lake reservoir, operated by the water company on the 17-Mile Drive, Monday's reading was 24 degrees, rising to 28 Wednesday morning and 34 Thursday.

Carmel citizens skidded and slipped on ice in downtown streets up until noon several mornings this week. Water from service station wash racks froze in the gut- (Continued on Page Sixteen)

Bing's Tourney Opens Today At Cypress Point

The Bing Crosby $10,000 National Pro-Amateur Golf Championship Tournament opens this morning at Cypress Point Club, with 192 contestants from all over the United States lined up for the 54 hole event. Entire proceeds of the three-day tournament will go to the Sister Kenny Polio Fund and to the Monterey Peninsula Community Chest.

Greatest attraction for the thousands of spectators who will pay five dollars for a season gallery ticket is the impressive roster of professionals and movie stars, including Crosby himself. For the third time on the Peninsula, the singer will finance the affair and contribute the $10,000 prize money.

Among professionals participating are Byron Nelson, one of the greatest names in golf, Ben Hogan, Sammy Snead, Lloyd Mangrum, and Jimmy Demaret. Amateurs include such well-known movie and sports figures as Del Webb, owner of the New York Yankees, Lefty O'Doul, Jimmy Dykes, Dennis O'Keefe, Dick Arlen, John Hodiak, Randolph Scott, Johnny Weissmuller, Buddy Rodgers, and, of course, Bing Crosby.

Following today's play at Cypress Point, the entire field will move Saturday to the Monterey Peninsula Country Club, with the third and final 18 holes of competition taking place at Pebble Beach Sunday.

Prizes will be awarded in two divisions, the straight pro scores for which there are 15 places total. (Continued on Page Thirteen)

ALWAYS THE SAME

"Buck" Warshawsky, whose one man show opens at the Carmel Art Association Gallery on Sunday, lived for many years in France before he decided to make his home on the Monterey Peninsula. He has recently returned from a year's visit in Paris, which he says is "the same, always the same, Paris" and adds that of all his recollections of Paris, the night of his first arrival, Thanksgiving, 1910, stands out uniquely. Read his account of that eventful evening on the Feature Page of this issue and you will understand why it made such a vital impression.

Red Eagle

BY R. ELLIS ROBERTS

Dignity. Courtesy. Independence. Generosity. And that sense of the past without which no picture of the future can have truth—all of these have been lessened in Carmel by the death of Chief Red Eagle, of the Choctaw Nation.

The American Indian has generally been a nomad; even before the white men started moving him on. Red Eagle wandered far during his long life of eighty years. His Nation was at home in the Mississippi Valley, in Texas, later in Oklahoma. He was a visitor, all his life, after his wife's death in child-birth: and here in Carmel he was a visitor except with his friends, with children and in the Mission Church of San Carlos Borromeo from which he took his last journey on Wednesday morning: to the Catholic Cemetery in Monterey.

When I first saw Red Eagle—in 1940—I took for granted that he was of those Peninsula Indians whom Robert Louis Stevenson had seen sixty years earlier in the unroofed, tumble-down Mission church. I had heard people speak affectionately of "our Indian": and his Nation, who farmed the land in distant Texas, was also a gentle and kindly tribe. In talk with him over the years I discovered that we had met, so to speak, when I was not quite in my teens in London. For as a small boy I had been taken to Buffalo Bill's Wild West show in 1887 at which Red Eagle was the youngest of those daring riders and hunters of what seemed to me then a huge herd of trampling, snorting buffalo. In his quiet way Red Eagle was amused that he and I, both living in a village far from our homes, should have had that earlier, unconscious contact. For he quite understood that a small boy, seeing that famous show, would have no eyes for anyone except Colonel Cody himself and the unmatched Annie Oakley who was, he insisted, as lovely as her looks.

To see Red Eagle at his most characteristic, his happiest, one had to see him with horses and with boys. He had that natural gravity that appeals to children; was without condescension. Once

One of Carmel's gentlest, best-loved citizens, Red Eagle, Choctaw Indian, died Monday in a Salinas hospital. He was nearly a hundred years old and had lived in Carmel for ten years. A Requiem Mass was celebrated for him at the Mission Wednesday morning, Father Michael O'Connell officiating, Noel Sullivan singing the choral parts. Interment followed at the Catholic Cemetery in Monterey. At the time of his death friends of Red Eagle had retained a lawyer to investigate if a part of the royalties from his biography, written by Mabel O'Moran of Monterey from information furnished by him, could be obtained for him.

In the summer of 1947 we drove with him and two young boys to the Carmel Valley Ranch where he had trained a little horse to sit at table and do other tricks. As I watched him I realized how great a virtue patience can be—and it was one of his greatest talents, evident in the very softness and quietness of his speech. He loved to ride for and with children, and to do his astonishing performances with the lariat. For a company of two or three he took as much pain as for crowded USO audiences.

He had great simplicity; but it was allied to natural shrewdness, and he was grieved and indignant when he believed anyone had tried to take advantage of him. He was inflexibly loyal to his friends, and his gratitude for little services was (Continued on Page Sixteen)

Mercury Homes May Get Out Of Difficulties Yet

No evidence of criminal fraud is apparent in the financial difficulties of Mercury Homes, Carmel building firm declared unable to meet obligations of more than $100,000 last week, Deputy District Attorney John Shephard said yesterday. Although Clarence C. Thomas, owner of the company which initiated the "modular construction" or unit pre-fabricated system for low cost housing on the Monterey Peninsula, was arraigned last Friday in Monterey Justice Court for violation of the California Labor Code, indications were this week that the firm may meet (Continued on Page Four)

CARMEL BASKETBALL TEAMS AT KING CITY TONIGHT

With a winning streak of one straight to sustain, the Carmel Padre basketball team journeys to King City tonight to test the rapidly improving Mustang quintet. The Padre varsity rudely surprised the Salinas Cowboys last Friday night and have gained a semblance of confidence from the upset victory. As Salinas is considered one of the favorites in the A league, perhaps the sawed-off Padres have begun to click. King City put up a whale of a game against the towering Pacific Grove club and should provide plenty of competition for the locals. The Mustangs are always hard to beat at King City, and many an upset has occurred on the valley court. Basketball fans who are familiar with the old King City gym and its lack of seating space will be glad to know that they now have a new auditorium which will seat 3000 and provide a maximum size playing court. Off their sterling performance in the Salinas game, the probable starters for the Red and Grey varsity are: Lee Laugenour and Dick Gargiulo, forwards, Gene Vandervort, center, Steve Whitaker, who was the sparkplug in the Cowboy upset, and Jim Hare, at the guards.

The Carmel lightweights tangle with the King City Ponies in a 7 o'clock preliminary game. The freshmen-loaded Padrecitos will be gunning for their first league victory against the good King City squad. On comparative scores, King City should handle the little Padres, but Updike and Company are on the improve and an upset is possible. Probable lightweight starters: Bob Updike and Bob Burgess, forwards, Stewart Emery, center, Henry Overin and Bill Daniels, guards.

CARMEL JV WHIP MONTEREY AND SALINAS

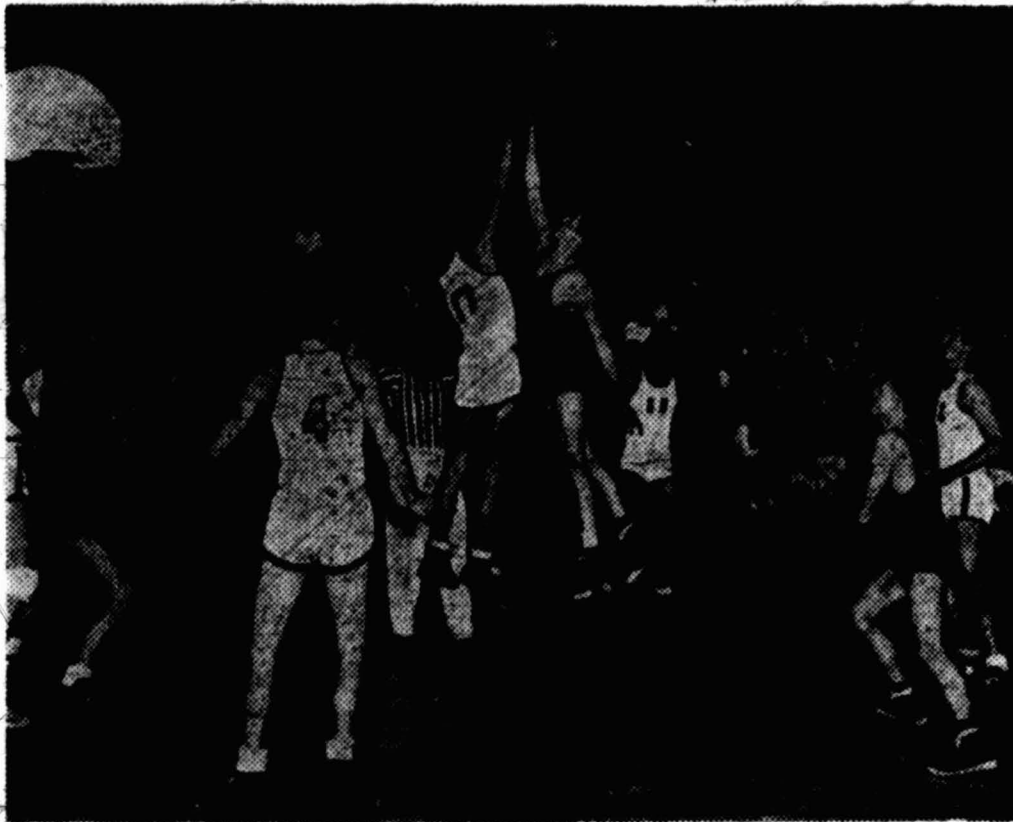

There is one undefeated basketball team at Carmel High School. It is the junior varsity team which is now enjoying a two game winning streak. Organized only last week, the JV's have already taken the measure of the Monterey and Salinas JV's. Eric Short, Denicio Narvaez, and Howard DeAmaral teamed up to scuttle the Monterey squad, while 14 points by Narvaez and 9 by DeAmaral proved damaging to the Salinas cagers. Monterey fell by a 30-25 count and Salinas bowed by 32-28. Both games were fast moving affairs and some good basketball was turned in by the hustling reserves. Next game for the Carmel JV's will be tomorrow night when they tangle with Santa Cruz on the Pacific Grove court. Game time is 5:45. This will be a preliminary to the Pacific Grove-Santa Cruz clash.

A bad case of over-confidence on the part of Salinas, and a sharp reversal in form for Carmel, provided the fixings for the major upset of the current hoop season grade intramural league. Twice a week these future greats square off in quest of the hoop title. At the present time, Mervin Sutton's Jets are on the top of the heap with 2 wins and nary a defeat. Charles Dawson's '49ers are in the runner-up spot with 1 win and 1 loss. Dick Ogden's Bombers are finding the going a little rough and have 2 defeats for their efforts. The Jets are powered by Captain last Friday night. The Cowboys figured to handle the small Padres just about as they pleased, but when the final whistle had blown, the locals were on the long end of a 39-34 count. In a game replete with personal fouls, the Padres outplayed and outshot the highly vaunted Cowboys to richly deserve their victory. Fifty-eight charity tosses were tried during the evening, with Salinas connecting for 20 in 32 chances, and the Padres meshing 17 out of 26 tries. The first quarter looked like a pitchers battle in baseball, with neither team able to connect for a field (Continued on Page Fifteen)

Wayfarer League Votes To Retain Methodist Ties

By a considerable majority members of the Church of the Wayfarer voted on Monday evening to retain their status as a true, interdenominational community church, and also to continue their relation to the Methodist conference, which gave the organization its start about forty-five years ago. Some members had considered that breaking the tie with the conference would facilitate plans for needed expansion for activities in all departments—adult, youth, and children's interests.

In the discussion it was pointed out that when persons of other denominations join the local church they are not reported to the Conference as Methodists, but retain their tie to the denomination out of which they have come. However, connection with a nation-wide church and a measure of support of its projects makes the ministers eligible for an adequate salary when they reach retirement age. Further, a share in national and worldwide religious activities is assured, including affiliation with such interdenominational bodies as Church World Service, International Missionary Council, United Council of Church Women, Federal Council of Churches, organizations which coordinate the work of the different religious bodies in relief of need and in promotion of spiritual development. Many members felt that the denomination was less important than co-operation in the life and work of the church.

Dr. Linsdale Speaker For Open House At Monterey College

Dr. J. Linsdale, director of the Hastings Natural History Reservation in upper Carmel Valley, will be the featured speaker at the evening session of an open house for California scientists Saturday, January 22, at Monterey Peninsula College. Dr. Linsdale's talk will be illustrated by motion pictures.

Sponsored by the college natural science department, the invitation affair will include an afternoon inspection tour of the laboratory and museum, conducted by F. S. Ruth, science instructor at the college.

Representatives of colleges and universities throughout California are expected to attend, as well as members of the local Audubon Society. Local scientists who have received invitations are Dr. Roger Blinks and Dr. Rolf Bolin, both of Hopkins Marine Station.

GROCERY CLERK FINED

John Shuey, Kip's Market grocery clerk, was fined $50 by Police Judge George P. Ross in City Court Wednesday after he entered a guilty plea to charges of selling liquor to a minor New Year's Eve. Shuey sold a quantity of beer to a Carmel high school student who, with three friends, all 18 or under, subsequently held an impromptu beach party, the complaint stated.

Charges against Shuey resulted when High School Athletic Coach George Mosolf told Carmel Police last week that several members of the basketball team had obtained liquor for a New Year's Eve celebration. Under questioning, the boys admitted having purchased beer from Shuey. The clerk told police he had received the money and rung it up, but that he was unaware of the nature of the purchase.

City Should Back Its Artists, Says J. W. MacLennan

J. William MacLennan, lecturer and historian, in his lecture Tuesday evening to Mrs. Glenn Clairmonte's Adult Education Group, stressed the importance of a city supporting its creative artists, painters, authors, musicians, architects, dancers. Only a city which has great people in it is great. It is not enough occasionally to import talent. The spirit of her own creative artists is of inestimable value, inspiring her people towards greatness.

Material objects pass away, but great poetry, great art, live on. Babylon and Nineveh are nothing but heaps of rubble. Troy lives only because of the poems of Homer. The temple of Solomon is gone, but the psalms of David live on. Boston lost its supremacy in American literature when her people turned to England and France and forgot her own writers. American authors fled from Boston, some to Europe, others to the West.

In discussing Oliver St. John Gogarty, Mr. MacLennan pointed out that the Irish under the leadership of de Valera, by their lack of understanding, have driven from her borders their men of imagination. Many of these have come to America and enriched her life.

Great art can flourish only in a community sympathetic to her creative artists.

HI CHATTER

By Nancy Page

The big event at the end of last week was the Block C initiation, which kept the pledges busy dashing around to keep up with the orders of members of the organization. Each of the pledges had a shoeshine kit, and had to shine anyone's shoes on the request of a member. (Some ambitious people had as many as 15 "shines" in one day!) Crazy costumes were also featured, and several charming "girls" were seen around the campus. Initiates lugged everybody's books to and from class, providing entertainment by singing at the top of their lungs. At noon time, Block C members contrived all sorts of races for their victims, with the pledges having to push walnuts along the ground with their noses, hop, crawl, and turn summersaults. The 28 new Block C members include Bill Daniels, Dennis Narvaez, Aram Tootelian, Ed Goodrick, Erik Short, Gerry Robinson, Ronald Stoney, Peter Lyon, Jack Belangee, Mitchell Steenhoudt, Joe Beard, Joe Diekemper, Stewart Emery, Mickey Frisbie, Delfo Giglio, John Gibbs, John Monroe, Henry Overin, Ronnie Peterson, Thor Rasmussen, Gunner Reimers, Bobby Updike, Howard Veit, Niels Reimers, Ken Riley, Chris Williams, Bob Laug-enour, and Mike Ricketts.

At a meeting of the Rally Club early this week, plans for coming league games were worked out and arrangements for the rooting section were discussed. The club is again planning to sponsor after-the-game feeds for home league games, with the first one this year on the 21st of this month (Boulder Creek). The only others will be the Gonzales game on Jan. 28 and King City on Feb. 18. A committee appointed to be in charge of the first feed includes Janice Hatton, Suzanne Smith, Nancy Page, Carol Templeman, and Nancy Brown. Card stunts will be done at all of these games, since they made such a hit at the Pacific Grove game. Further arrangements for a red and white rooting section were made, and the yells we are now using were discussed.

Members of the Spanish Club met this week to make further plans for the club's dance which will be held in the cafeteria on January 20 after the Gonzales game. The affair will be on a Spanish theme, having cascarones and a pinata in addition to appropriate decorations. Those in charge of the several committees are

Yearbook pictures of most of the classes, clubs, and other groups including some athletics were taken the last half of this week. Since the staff of the publication has an early deadline to meet, the main work is being done now. Picture taking will continue this month, and in addition to the official shots, students are being encouraged to hand in snapshots for the candid page.

Forty-three English and dramatics and four faculty members will attend this afternoon's matinee of Hamlet at the Playhouse as a special project to tie in with recent class work. Members of the group, which will include only the senior English and junior and senior drama classes, all have had some study of Shakespeare in this semester's work. The English class spent some time on MacBeth, and this week a film of Romeo and Juliet was shown to both groups. The drama students are now reading Hamlet in class.

Elections for next semester's student body officers are coming around again. Petitions for candidates were out the first three days of this week and the student council met Wednesday afternoon to check and approve them. Campaigns are getting under way, and if the contest this time is anything like that of the last election, we're really in for some fancy electioneering. Offices to be filled are: president, vice-president, secretary, commissioner of boy's athletics, commissioner of girl's athletics, commissioner of social and community affairs, and commissioner of publicity.

its obligations and resume operations.

Two complaints demanding payment for building materials used in Carmel homes were filed against Thomas last week in the County Clerk's office by Henry Eisemann, Peninsula contractor, requesting judgements totalling $1,945.75. Also named in the complaints were Anita C. Purdy and Harry and Mabel Yakeley, owners of Carmel homes built by Thomas. Labor Code violation charges were filed after Thomas allegedly issued a negotiable pay check. His plea to the misdemeanor charge will be entered this afternoon at 2:00 o'clock.

In a letter to creditors and purchasers of homes, issued by O. W. Irwin of the Peninsula Credit Exchange, total indebtedness of Mercury Homes was given as $102,682.16. Of this amount, $68,574.53 is due to creditors with lien rights, $14,515.25 to tax collectors, $5,274.88 to labor and for outstanding checks, $9,850 for customers' deposits, and $4,467.50 in personal notes and commissions.

Fourteen houses are in various stages of completion, with payments withheld on six additional houses, according to Irwin's report. Cost of completion plus estimated accounts of creditors with lien rights is believed to exceed the amount due on the twenty contracts.

Subterranean streams flowing into the ocean were tapped to provide San Francisco's Golden Gate Park with its own water supply.

Our Congressman Writes Home

Washington teams with more than the usual first-of-the-year activity.

Congress is organizing for its new session, making committee assignments, receiving messages from President Truman, his economic report and budget recommendations.

Reactions to these are varied. Some proposals, I feel, will receive Congressional approval. Many, I think are justified and will provoke vigorous and justified opposition from members of those parties.

Two recent actions of Congress, in my opinion, are regrettable. One was the Democratic move in the house to deprive the rules committee of its authority, and vest it in the hands of the speaker on the subject of what legislation should come to a vote. That body, criticised for holding up desirable measures, also has held up legislation of undesirable nature that was not considered properly by other house committees.

In reorganization of the house agricultural committee, I have been able to advance several steps in seniority, placing me as eighth ranking Republican. Again, as in the last two years, I serve on this committee. I hope the Democrats will accede to the request of Cong. Cecil White, Fresno (D) that he be placed on the committee on agriculture, giving California two members. As one of the nation's most important agricultural states, I feel California should have representation on both the majority and minority sides. After all, the welfare of the farmer should not be the subject of partisan politics.

I am giving careful study to President Truman's recommendations on farm legislation. If a price support program is enacted by Congress, I will insist that various California so-called specialty crops be included.

What do Pine Cone readers think of their Congressman's stand on the above matters? We appreciate it greatly when you use the columns of The Pine Cone for your expression of opinion.

Peninsula Reaches 90 Percent Chest Quota

Ninety percent of the goal was reached in the community chest drive, Marion Todd, secretary announced this week. A total of $53,218 has been collected of which $20,414 was donated by Carmel people, 38 percent of all funds collected for the Peninsula.

Mrs. Todd said that great thanks were due the drive chairmen, Mrs. Horace Dormody, Mr. Charles Rayne of Carmel, Mrs. E. C. Pattee of Pebble Beach and Mr. Hal Boyd of Carmel Highlands.

Enough has been raised by the drive and funds made available by the Bing Crosby tournament of last year to restore the cut to the smaller agencies, Mrs. Todd said.

ALLEGED FORGER CAUGHT

Ben Reed Huffman, identified by four local businessmen as the man who allegedly passed over $300 in forged payroll checks in Carmel December 30, is in jail in Ventura this week awaiting prosecution on similar charges, Carmel police were advised Saturday.

Huffman, alias Robert L. Scott, was apprehended in Ventura December 31, following an unsuccessful attempt to cash a check under circumstances similar to those in Carmel. In each case here, Huffman allegedly presented a payroll check drawn on the Butler Crate Company for $68.43, and made out to Robert L. Scott, in payment for small items purchased during the holiday rush. Other complaints have been filed in Monterey and Los Angeles, police said.

The Time Has Come . .

By Kippy Stuart

The New Year certainly brought a tail-spin of misery for Peninsula gardeners. No one, in the history of these parts, has ever witnessed such a devastating destruction as the January freeze. While we are bemoaning the set-back to our personal gardens, let us be glad of one thing; the freeze that nipped our growing things, also nipped the larva, and 1949 will be a light bug year. The immature, wingless worms and eggs that lay in wait in the pupa stage, will not pass through the metamorphosis to become voracious thrip, aphid and other damaging insects. The icy blast sounded their knell.

The thing to do, is to take stock of our gardens and see exactly what damage has been done. Not much damage, after all. Don't be alarmed by foliage that looks dead. Scratch the bark with your finger nail and you will find live wood that will come into leaf or flower at the proper time. Our climate forces so many growing things to work over time that many a shrub and tree will welcome this enforced period of rest.

No pruning of damaged shrubs or trees should be done until all danger of frost is over. This would move the pruning period toward late February or early March. By that time we can be reasonably sure that all danger of frost is over.

It is a funny thing about frost. Since the occurrence of frost depends upon humidity as well as upon temperature, you can raise the frost point by increasing the moisture content of the air. This sounds wacky, but the experts advise us to water the garden well, before frost, in the middle of frost, after the frost. Any circulation of air tends to prevent frost and this circulation can be achieved with water as well as with smudge pots.

All of our bulbs are chuckling with delight, because bulbs like freezing weather. Tulips especially will be improved by this cold snap, and those gardeners who placed their tulip bulbs in the refrigerator before planting, will have still better results. Daffodils, freesias, crocus, all will give better results because of this ultra cold snap.

Our fuchsias and roses look as though they had given up the ghost, but they are merely resting. Come spring, they will be back in all their glory, none the worse for their bout with frost. Both fuchsias and roses should be pruned drastically and thoroughly late in February. This does not mean clipping a branch or two; this means a regular cutting spree. Climbing roses should have all lateral branches taken off and only about five canes left. The more you prune roses and fuchsias, the better plants you will have. Just take a look at the new rose stock for sale at nurseries. The bushes are cut back to three or five stalks, and all lateral branches removed. This is the way to insure fine rose gardens.

Mary Williams

Mrs. Mary Ruth Rohr Williams, Carmel resident for the past three months, died Sunday at her home at Camino Real and Second. A native of Nevada City, California, she came to Carmel in October with her husband, David P. Williams, Sr., now building inspector for the Monterey School District, from Mountain Home, Arkansas, where he was engaged in the construction business. Mrs. Williams was a graduate of the University of California at Berkeley.

In addition to her husband, she leaves two sons, Marston H. Williams, Los Angeles, and David P. Williams, Jr., Detroit, Michigan; three daughters, Mrs. Doris Henderson, Sacramento, Mrs. Frank Magula, Richland, Washington, and Mrs. William Guild, Yerington, Nevada; a brother, Carl S. Rohr, Carmel; and her mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Rohr, Carmel.

Private services were held Monday afternoon at the Little Chapel by the Sea Crematorium, Pacific Grove, with Dr. Benjamin Watson of the First Christian Church of Berkeley officiating. The Paul Mortuary was in charge of funeral arrangements.

A MATTER OF TASTE

What the well dressed automobile has been wearing this week shows a definite trend toward something warm. Style is determined by the resourcefulness of the owner.

Seen on the boulevards recently were cars with susceptible parts covered with newspapers. Another wore a leather jacket. Blankets and quilts were popular with those that didn't give a toot as long as they didn't freeze.

Fashion experts who have been consulted about the matter are inclined to agree that the outstanding and modish model was snuggled down under a bright pink bath robe.

Time and the weather have prevented an exhaustive survey and if anyone feels that the pink bath robe is not entitled to first place, we shall be glad to have entries submitted.

My grandfather made a doll house. I asked him what he made it for. He said he was making it to sell. I said I wanted it and he said he would tell Santa that he knew a little girl who wanted it. So he did. When we went to Salinas on Christmas Eve we saw Santa on the street. He had already been to my grandfather's and the doll house was there for me.
—Durell Decker.

Once I visited on a ranch and the farmer let me milk the cow. It was awfully hard, but I got a little milk.
—Clara Budd.

My grandmother went to Norway. She sent my sisters and me Norwegian dolls and little wooden boxes. The boxes are hand painted. The dolls and boxes are all different.
Janet Fehring.

My birthday was on Jan. 10. I was seven on my birthday. My sister's birthday was on Jan. 11. She was five. We had our party together. We had a dinner party. We each invited three guests.
—Douglas Osmont.

I used to live on a farm in Orland. We had five acres. On the five acres we raised corn, hay and vegetables. We had a cow. We had chickens too. I went to a country school. There were two teachers in the school.
—Emmett Dunlap.

My father went hunting and got three geese. One was a brant and two were gray geese. I helped pick one of the geese. He got some ducks too.
—Dale Dawson.

My sister and I got a dog for Christmas. He is a golden retriever. His name is Nugget. My daddy named him. He has a little basket, but he doesn't like to sleep in it. He sleeps on top of the hay stack in the barn yard.
—Virginia Lander.

During vacation my mother and I went on the streamliner train to San Francisco and then to Berkeley on the electric train. We crossed the Bay Bridge. We visited a friend of my mother's. I had a very happy time.
—Vivian Davis.

Last summer my mother and I went to Alabama. We visited my grandmother and grandfather. They live on a farm. They raise cotton. I helped hoe it. I helped feed the pigs, too. While we were there a hawk killed a chicken. One of my cousins ran out with a gun, but the hawk was gone.
—Jimmy Ashley.

I have a large doll. I got her for Christmas last year. This year my mother made a bride dress for her. The veil has hand made lace on it. The lace belonged to my mother's mother. She has a pearl necklace made from an old necklace of mine. Her slippers are made from a pair of kid gloves. Lucinda's mother dressed her doll exactly like mine.

—Nancy Lofton.

We have moved into a new house. It is on Mission Street. My little sister and I have a room together. I polished the windows. The floors are slippery.

Richard Hardman, seventh grade student, left Sunset School last Friday. He is going to Japan to live. He boards the boat on Friday, Jan. 14, with his mother, Mrs. Wayne Hardman. They will sail from Seattle, Washington. Richard's father, Lt. Col. Hardman is stationed in Osaka, Japan.

Resources, Not Politics Vital To Life Says Baker

Man can survive no matter what form of government controls him, but he cannot long continue to exist if he destroys the earth's resources without thought of future reckoning, John H. Baker, president of the National Audubon Society, told Monterey Peninsula members recently at Sunset School.

The interrelationship of all things, from the grasses that hold the topsoil to the trees that store our rapidly diminishing underground water supply, must be taught to the citizens of the future, Baker said. The education of teachers in this field is being approached through the Audubon Nature Camps in Maine, Connecticut, Texas, and at Norden in the California Sierras, he pointed out, and Junior Audubon groups are now being formed in schools and among youth societies everywhere.

The speaker stressed the value of providing proper habitats for such rapidly disappearing North American birds as the California condor, the whooping crane, and the ivory-billed woodpecker, as opposed to the practice of preserving individual specimens. He spoke briefly of the governmental agencies which preserve wilderness areas, and of the activities of the National Audubon Society in support of this work.

Do You Remember . . . ?

PARIS, 1910

BY A. G. WARSHAWSKY

A myriad lights coming through the drizzle laden atmosphere, a blowing of whistles, and a stir among the passengers warned me the long awaited moment had come. I was entering Paris. Too late I regretted my oversight in not sending a telegram to my friend, Sears Kroll, to announce my arrival, for it was a cheerless business, entering Paris in the cold, soggy darkness, and I, practically speechless. The porters helped me on to the quays with my luggage and out through the gates to a taxi. I wrote out the address to which I was going, showed it to the driver, and off we rode.

The streets round the station were dazzling in reflected light from the rain washed pavements, and an odor of gasoline mingled with the aroma of roasting chestnuts came to my nostrils, a smell I have always continued to associate with Paris. We kept turning in and out of a labyrinth of narrow streets, the chauffeur tooting his horn continually. In which direction we were driving I had no idea, naturally. If only it had been light enough for me to catch a glimpse of the magic city!

Finally we turned into a narrow dark lane and stopped in front of a two-storied plaster studio building with a wooden staircase on the outside, leading to the second floor, a balcony following the entire length of the building.

"Oui, oui, Passage Giubert," the cabby assured me in answer to my mute questioning. I handed him the fare marked on the dial and a tip, but he seemed dissatisfied, hunching his shoulders and protesting, "Non, non!" with a torrent of comment. Feeling certain that my tip was sufficient, I gave him a cussing out in English, but to no effect, for he kept up his voluble discourse, cussing me, too, for all I might know. The racket brought out a young fellow from an upstairs studio, who came to my rescue. Sizing me up as an American, he asked me in English, to my great relief, what it was all about. After I had explained and he had spoken with the driver, he told me the latter was not trying to rob me, but that as my large valise had been taken on the outside of the cab, there was a small extra charge. This paid, I was enthusiastically "mercié" by the driver, to our joint satisfaction.

Thomas Benton was the young American Art Student who had come to my rescue, and the first compatriot I met in France. He told me he knew Kroll very well. He was his neighbor, in fact. Kroll was attending a sketch class at Julian's Academy every evening, dining later at a pension, and he usually returned to his studio rather late. It was Thanksgiving evening, a fact I had entirely forgotten. Benton asked me into his studio until my friend arrived. There, to my agreeable surprise, I found Al Rigny whom I had known very well at the academy in New York and who had played baseball on the Academy team with me. The two were about to sit down to a late Thanksgiving dinner. When they learned I had not dined, they asked me to pitch in with them, and my lonesome heart warmed to their generous welcome. A big bellied stove was radiating its cheerful glow from the center of the studio, while the rain, beating against the large studio window, added to the feeling of comfort. A long loaf of delicious bread, utterly unlike the adamant stuff I had eaten on the train, with a large helping of beef steak, smothered in onions, and fried potatoes and a cup of coffee, "à l'Americaine" soon had me in a state of beatitude. The boys drank red wine during the meal, but I didn't relish the rather tart taste of "vin ordinaire." When asked how I liked the steak, I replied, "Delicious!" So it was, though perhaps a little tough and more sweetish than the beef at home. Roars of laughter greeted my reply. They told me I had just eaten horse meat!

FIELD AT MORNING

*The hoofed-in ruts, the rough, raw scars
On a stamped stubble where cows fed
And clumped, contented with the bars
That circumscribed their plodding tread,*

*The dusty beds beneath a tree,
The only one in the cropped field,
Where the cows lay on weighted knee,
The grass worn short where they once kneeled,*

*These marks of their late pasturing
Are webbed with silver gossamer
Of such a weave, that wondering,
I doubt cows ruminated there*

—ALEX R. SCHMIDT.

NIGHT - HELD

*I walked through the eye of night
And stood centered in orbness,
In the bare-emptiness of coolness . . .*

*A breath-hush
Ebbing in black swims,
Tear-pricked, leaf-scratched . . .*

*Centered in silence,
I walked through the great quiet
Of a held sob.*

*And oh, it was loose-free
And stilled to time.*

*Yet time moved,
For the hung cry broke
To wind-sweep the heart

*And heavy it pressed
Till it tore my own souled heart.*

*And deeper still,
Till it was mine own cry.*

—MARJORIE HANSEN.

SUNDOWN AT CARMEL

*Now sinks the setting sun
As swiftly as a coin
Slips from sight
And gold for gold is given
To herald in the night—
As with a clash of cymbals.*

*Tones swirl across the sky
In quick succession,
Soft echoed by the sea—
Shell pink, pearl gray, pale green,
They blend in perfect harmony.*

*The first star sounds its note.
Day's song is done
Until she drops
Another golden sun.*

BY FERDINAND W. HAASIS

What happened to the sand? That puzzling question must have presented itself to many a stroller on Carmel Beach. It is weird and bewildering to find prongs and ledges of bare rock where only a few months before was a smooth mantle of sand. Sometimes, it will be noted, the sand is removed to a depth of as much as five feet, as shown by fragments of the old summer surface adjacent to a fresh cut. That means a lot of sand has gone somewhere (and incidentally it is hard on structures trustingly erected during the summer.) Now we have a book to give at least a guarded answer to even this question. Francis P. Shepard, in his Submarine Geology (384 pages, published last year, 1948,) tells how the beach profile is constantly changing with the ceaseless change of tide pattern, neap to spring and back to neap, and with alternating stormy and calm weather, and suggests that during the winter denudation the sand simply moves out into deep water. Local observation shows that this sand movement varies considerably from winter to winter. It is seldom that the beach becomes as rocky as in 1940, for example, and at present many plants are flourishing on the sand well out from the bluff.

While this book's title suggests that it might deal chiefly with things that most of us can't see, yet it contains much information having considerable interest to land dwellers. And a good deal of this has not previously been published.

Take the matter of the near-shore water movements, for instance, often referred to as "undertow" or "rip tides." Since careful studies fail to indicate currents moving violently out along the bottom and since the movements are not connected with those of the tides, except very incidentally, the author suggests as a substitute the term "rip currents" for the "strong outward-moving surface and near-surface currents" formed by the returning water of a spent breaker. Not all of this movement is directly out from shore, a good deal being along the shore, as may often be observed on Carmel beach. Shepard discusses these currents in some detail. He also offers advice to swimmers caught in rip currents, suggesting that they swim along the shore, perhaps take it easy till the rip conditions change a little, and use the incoming breakers to help themselves shoreward. Once a swimmer can get his feet on the sand it is helpful, according to my experience, to lean against the out-flowing water, to turn sidewise, or to stand on one foot. But, by and large, this is no shore for an inexperienced swimmer. With a good sea running the water may vary from ankle deep to nearly chin deep within a very short space of time. The surf-bather must expect to get ducked occasionally when he doesn't plan it, and to get tumbled about now and then, and a swimmer who is not ready for these incidents had better stay ashore. Coming in through the surf is particularly difficult. Besides, there are not many persons who are accustomed to the relatively cold water at Carmel varying from 50° F. in the winter time to around 65° in August. But I'm getting away from my story.

Another beach feature described by Shepard and found at Carmel is the bar, or "low tide terrace," with its accompanying inshore trough, which are exposed for long stretches by the lowest tides. These beach conditions are also potentially dangerous to swimmers because of the strong currents frequently prevailing in the troughs and because the deep water of the trough is often not visible to a bather who happens to find himself on the terrace with its shallower water.

Another striking feature of our immediate vicinity is a huge submarine canyon having its origin in Monterey and Carmel Bays. Fifty miles at sea this canyon is 1500 fathoms deep (that's

Dr. Billie's Garden

By L. A. W.

Perchance some of my remarks a few weeks ago about the names of vegetables have survived the ravages of time on your memories. Since I wrote those more or less immortal words I have been taken to task for casting aspersions on the botanical nomenclature of vegetables.

I have to confess that I was too hasty in drawing my conclusions from inadequate data. I had assumed that seed catalogues are basic sources for such data as the accurate names of vegetables. In the light of justly deserved criticism I have made further researches. The awful truth is even worse than I had expected to find. Here are a few of the results.

Cauliflower is not at all the name of that delectable vegetable we know by that title. This noble member of the cabbage family is actually—Cruciferae brassica oleracea botrytis. Remember that the next time you go to the market and make due obeisance. Someone described the cauliflower—pardon me—as a cabbage with a college education. All I can say is that it needs it.

The carrot, so-called, is actually properly named as—Umbellifera daucus carota sativa. Try this one on your market man—but don't try it more than once.

Would you like to try Leguminosae phaseolus vulgaris humilis? It is really delicious when picked young from its bush, cut or shredded, cooked quickly and served with a dash of salt and olive oil. Note that "vulgaris" will you; common, ordinary. Not the way Bess fixes string beans.

That base for your salad is, you should know, Compositae lactuca sativa capita—unless you have been serving the leafy kind in which case it is "crispa" instead of "capita." Clever isn't it that this latter is called "head" lettuce? Or have you forgotten your required "two years of an ancient language."

The bright red accompaniment you find in your salad is a slice, or two, of Solanaceae lycopersicon esculentum commune. Now how did anyone ever get up the courage to call this fruity herb or herby fruit a mere love apple? Among the haut mode it is known as a tomato. The rest of us call it tomato, like its cousin, several times removed, potato.

Don't you think it is a crime for the academicians to have treated our friends the vegetables to such a barrage of Latinity? But I suppose the cognoscenti and the literati must find some outlet for their suppressed desires and frustrations in this modern age. They can't take it all out on their students, you know.

For my part, I am glad that users of seed catalogues do not have to meet college entrance requirements.

fathoms, not feet, or, in other words, well over a mile and a half.) An entire chapter of Shepard's book is devoted to submarine canyons and he refers to our Monterey Canyon as "the best known of the larger canyons in the world," yet it is probably safe to say that the existence of this topographic feature is unknown to most of us, except, perhaps, for those few who have viewed the model at the Pacific Grove Museum. The author presents a bold theory about the development, on land of such canyons, involving a sea-level lowering of around 6000 thousand feet. Part of his supporting evidence for this view is the finding in deep water of a great abundance of deposits which must have been made in shallow water.

The above-mentioned items are just a few of the many interesting subjects discussed in this highly readable book. The question might well be raised, how can anyone really know what Davy Jones' locker is like? Not only does the author tell us how such information is obtained, but he shows us actual photographs of the sea bottom. Chapters are devoted to coral reefs and to the floor of the deep oceans, among other things. But I won't spoil the reader's enjoyment of this book by telling him all about it in advance.

COLOR PHOTOGRAPHY

Adult Education, Carmel, Carmel Group is open to anyone interested. Pictures are made under lights and later, field days will be arranged. Transparencies brought in are projected and general discussion is helpful to all. Miss Beatrice Ralston, winner first prize in color, Padre Trails Club, will show pictures, assisted by several other students. Everybody is invited, Room 11, Sunset school, upstairs, Friday, 7:30.

Jan. 17, Sunset Auditorium, 7:30, there will be a showing of color movies. Local photographers are also invited to show their work. Both classes under the sponsorship of Adult Education Classes.

Price Is Soloist For Symphony-Pool Benefit Concert

The second concert of the Monterey County Symphony Orchestra will take place on March 15 in the Auditorium of the Sunset School, and like the first concert of the season will be sponsored by the Lions Club of Carmel. Their share of the proceeds will be applied to installation of radiant heat in the concrete decks of the swimming pool now being built for the Carmel High School.

The soloist for the concert will be John Price, a junior of the Pacific Grove High School, who has studied piano for nine years, five of which have been under Mrs. M. C. Holman of Monterey. Price gave an excellent reading of the Mendelssohn Capriccio Brilliant in B minor at the audition held here some months ago, and has chosen that number for presentation on March 15 with orchestral accompaniment. Other numbers, which will be heard under the batons of Clifford Anderson and Lorell McCann, include Tchaikowski's Capriccio Italien, dances from Smetana's Bartered Bride and the stirring, melodious New World Symphony of Anton Dvorak.

COAST'S TELEPHONES DOUBLE IN TEN YEARS

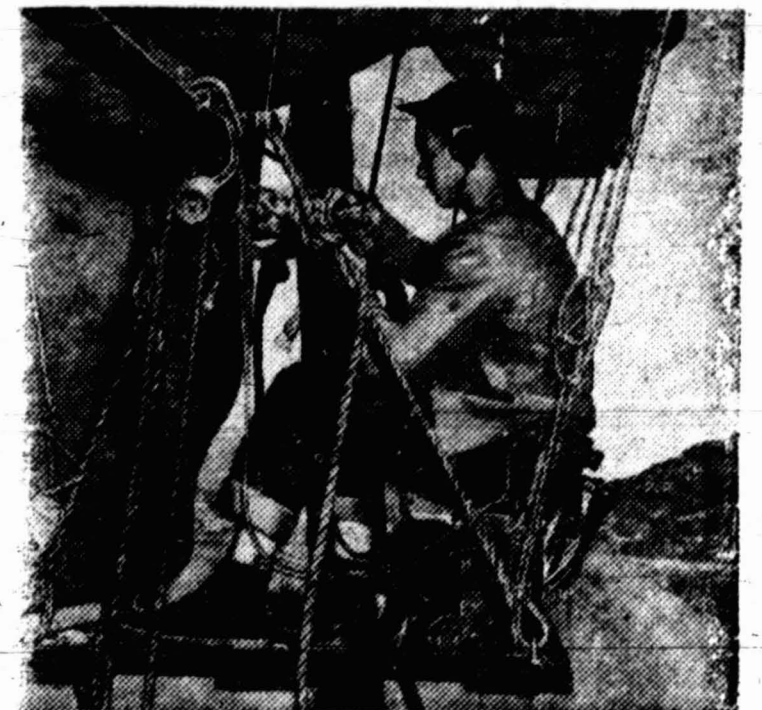

How we've made your telephone a more valuable servant than ever... and a better buy too

1. Today you can call twice as many telephones on the Coast as you could ten years ago. To provide service for our growing West, to make it possible for you to reach your new friends over the telephone, we've doubled our system in a decade... from 1,830,000 in the fall of 1938, to more than 3,700,000 today. This increase is more than we added in the previous 60 years.

2. Our family had to grow to make this gain. In '38 we numbered some 29,000 men and women. Today there are more than double that number... operators, installers, linemen, plant maintenance men... all the people who make telephone service possible. And training them to do their work for the West was a big job in itself.

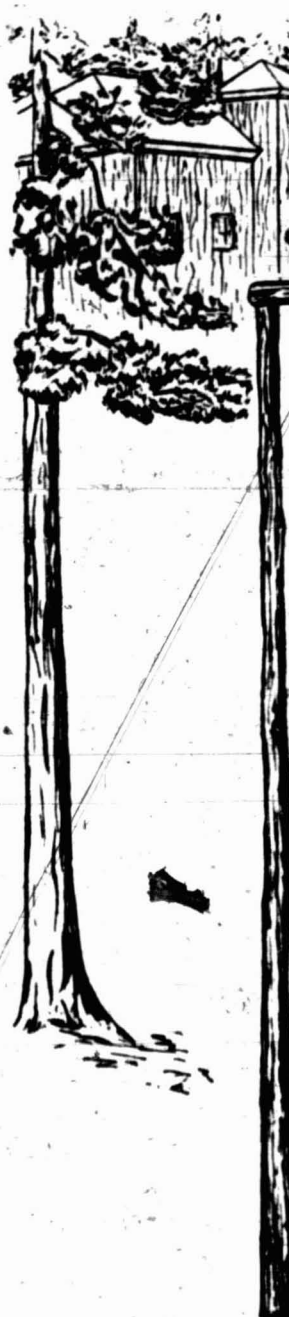

3. An amazing number of miles of wire has been added to link these new telephones... 6,000,000 miles of it. New buildings by the hundreds have been built and sensitive equipment installed. Yet we're far from through. For the West is growing still—and it must have good telephone service to help it grow soundly.

4. All these new telephones give you more value from your own telephone. You can call more people... more people can get in touch with you. And it keeps right on being a big bargain. Even in these days of higher prices, a few pennies still buy a telephone call.

Southwell did yeoman service in setting up the tables in advance.

Bridge Party At Woman's Club

The Carmel Woman's Club held its first bridge party of the new year in their new Club House last Monday afternoon, with fifteen tables. Mrs. Reginald Foster, chairman of the Bridge Section, and Mrs. F. E. Maftzer, hospitality chairman, were in charge of arrangements. Gala Fashion Show, Jan. 29

To benefit the Carmel High School swimming pool now under construction, a gala fashion show and party will be staged at Mission Ranch Saturday evening, Jan. 29, under auspices of the Carmel Lions Club.

Twenty Carmel shops are participating, with both men and women models displaying the latest apparel. Mrs. Frederick Elstob will provide commentary on the show.

The fashion display will be followed by dancing and a buffet supper, all of which is included in the price of admission. Joe Hudder is in general charge of the affair.

The event is the most elaborate yet undertaken by the Carmel Lions, who have put their knives and forks aside to help finance the swimming pool project under their program of supporting youth of the community.

While the aquatic project itself is being built by school funds, the Lions volunteered to underwrite cost of the radiant heating unit which will provide warmth around the sides of the plant.

The evening's program will start at 8 p.m., and admission will be $2. Festivities will include a parody of fashions by Lions, and a barber shop quartet made up of Dr. William Coughlin, Reed Freeman, Art Plaxton and Frank Putnam.

El Paseo Beauty Shop will contribute hair-do's, while the NB Flower Shop will provide blooms.

Attending a recent meeting at Pine Inn to arrange the show were Lions Rod Coupe, Dave Davison, Ted Fehring, Reed Freeman, Al Fry, Joe Gaston, Waldo Hicks, Roy Hillyer, Fred Hollenbeck and Chairman Hudder.

They named Ronnie Garneau and Davison as reception committee; Hicks in charge of music; Hollenbeck on tickets; Gaston and Coupe for entertainment; and Fry in charge of the buffet supper.

Mrs. Elstob, the commentator, will have a woman's committee to assist with the models.

If you are calling "Fore!" this week-end, and if you are wearing the Babe Didrikson Golf Dress, you can be confident that your approach is faultless! The CARMEL DRESS SHOP, Ocean Avenue, west of Dolores, has it, exclusively and it is a honey! As a designer Miss Didrikson has created a "must have" for the active golfer. Using Lonsdale fine combed sanforized cotton, in a variety of check and plaids, the designer introduces the slit bodice back for swing, an apron covered with attached belt, removable leather buckle (a mere snap takes it off for laundering) removable shoulder pads, fly button sleeves, convertible collar. There is a back hip pocket in addition to the usual side and breast pockets. The whole result is the answer to a golfer's prayer, utterly comfortable, practical and terrifically smart. Sizes 10 to 20 and its a mere $16.95. Swing into The CARMEL DRESS SHOP and you'll swing a grand game!

Maybe Bing's mellow tones do warm your heart, and his swing onto the green fires your enthusiasm, but how about nice warm feet and so on and so on? PUTNAM AND RAGGETT, Ocean and San Carlos, are featuring just what it takes to combat these chilly treks around our world famous courses. Heavy spun nylon anklets, shrink and stretch proof. With fuzzy angora-like cuffs, they come in white (that stays white through many washings) and a wide range of colors. Then there are the all wool Phoenix anklets, Kroy processed against shrinkage, beautiful to look at and oh so warmly comfortable to wear. And! Don't be silly, you may be sure that underneath it all the smartest gals in the gallery have been to PUTNAM AND RAGGETT first for their "Warm Friends" uh huh! that's their name, panties and vests of 20% wool, against ocean breezes and "unexpected" winter blasts. They are friends indeed!

Shivery as a shad, and hungry as a bear? Pop into HILLYER'S COFFEE SHOP, San Carlos and Ocean. There's the jolly glow of the brand new stove asetting there in the center; there's the jolly Colonel himself, the whiffle-birds bobbing their heads, and a menu of pancake "originals", hot sandwiches, golden French fries, and he-man breakfasts, luncheons, and dinners, all awaiting your good appetite! If you are alone and rushed, the counter stools are really comfortable, for sitting, not merely perching. The booths will seat up to six if you are family or party minded. HILLYER'S COFFEE SHOP is a Carmel haven for the hungry, a meeting place for those who know.

It doesn't take a Bing Crosby Tournament to get you excited over HARRIET DUNCAN'S superb golf shirts and skirts. But just the same its grand to know that here in the Village such beautifully styled, faultlessly tailored fashions are available. The sharkskin Prospector Blouse, a HARRIET DUNCAN exclusive, hand saddle stitched, in a wide range of muted and brilliant colors, is the last word in tailored swagger. Her cashmere sweaters and angora anklets are beautiful. And underneath it all, why not nylon undies? A dainty contradiction under tweeds, they never wrinkle, and they wear "like your favorite iron"! HARRIET DUNCAN, Sixth street near Dolores, where fashion conscious golfers meet.

Spring is here! You may not be too sure as you look sadly at those plants and flowers that got caught in the historic freeze. But don't cry over frozen flowers, walk into the NB FLOWER SHOP in the Seven Arts Building on Lincoln street, whiff the warm flower scented air and then! Feast your eyes upon the sun-kist daffodils, the tulips and the China lilies! Take some home and fill a bowl or two, or three, with springtime. There is nothing so lovely as these first blooms bringing their message of the green world "just around the corner". The NB FLOWER SHOP is ready with Spring's messengers.

Carmel's cold spell in your bones and muscles? Feeling tired and "stuffy" from too many hours 'round the fireplace, too many cigarettes perhaps, too much food, and those "pick-me-ups" that taste so good these chilly days? Well, you're toxic, that's all! An hour or so of treatment at BEALL'S HEALTH CENTER, Mission and Fifth, will put you right back on your toes. Diathermy, Ultra Violet and infra-red radiation, electro-therapy, colonic therapy, massage and steam cabinet treatments are given by H. Robert Beall, R.N. and Oneta V. Beall, R.N. in their delightful new treatment rooms. The Bealls know the answer for fatigue and simple run-down conditions, or they will follow your doctor's prescribed treatment. The equipment is the last word in scientific accomplishment. Treat yourself to a treatment at the BEALL'S HEALTH CENTER, Call Carmel 387-W.

A cup of coffee waiting for you, to warm your frosted bones, and a treat of color and design to warm your heart in the charming show-room of the CARMEL PAINT AND WALLPAPER SHOP at Junipero and Fourth streets. Mr. and Mrs. Bill Walker, the new owners of the shop are Southerners and believe in that good old Southern hospitality. Their wall papers are superb. If you go for modern, the Wallcrest hand prints will delight you especially, if you're a Colonial addict, well they have the cutest darn little flower designs ever! And! right there you can select harmonizing or contrasting paints of the highest quality. It all makes "doing up" your old house or creating your new interiors a joyful business! So do drop in on the Walkers, look, and enjoy a friendly cup of coffee. The CARMEL PAINT AND WALLPAPER SHOP.

There is a grand sale on at the CARMEL KIDDIE SHOP on Ocean Avenue below Dolores! Toddlers to seven years old should take their pa-s and ma-s by the hand and show them what's what in Coats, (they run to size 12!) straight and swing, many of them original and exclusive models, for important occasions or school. Suits, two piece affairs with plenty of swagger, all wool of course, beautifully tailored and sized. Dresses, wools and cottons, frilly or sedate! Grand bargains, too, in crib sheets and socks (the socks run right through to mothers' sizes!) Color fast, some with nylon heel and toe re-inforcement. The CARMEL KIDDIE SHOP is your answer for small-fry fashions at penny-pincher prices!

Here's news! There is right in the heart of town an expert who will alter your brand new clothes to perfection, or rejuvenate your old garments with such enthusiasm and cleverness that your best friend won't recognize them! If you are plump, she is an old campaigner in the battle of the bulge. If you're bony, she'll fluff you up something elegant. And! This wonder is quick as a flash. Call Carmel 1655-J.

This week-end when you are apt to be entertaining golf guests plan "party" meals they'll remember. MAC'S POULTRY MARKET, San Carlos and 5th, is ready for you with a special in small melt-in-your-mouth broilers, whole or split at 52c, that's right, 52c a pound! Roasters, fryers there are plenty! Have you tried that taste tantalizing Hom-made Conserve? the Almond stuffed Green Olives? And of course the Fresh Country Ranch Eggs you must have! MAC'S POULTRY MARKET is the meeting place for Carmel hostesses!

Just in time for the Tournament week-end, when visitors from all over are crowding our town the BEAUX ARTS STUDIO AND CAMERA SHOP has Color Movie Film on the shelves! Both 8mm in roll and magazine and 16mm in roll and magazine. It bears a 1950 dating, so if you are wise you will stock up! ORDINANCE NO. 94 N. S.

AN ORDINANCE REGULATING AND LICENSING THE BUSINESS OF DRIVING MOTOR VEHICLES USED TO CARRY PASSENGERS FOR HIRE IN THE CITY OF CARMEL-BY-THE-SEA, AND REPEALING ALL ORDINANCES OR PARTS OF ORDINANCES INCONSISTENT HEREWITH, AND PROVIDING PENALTIES FOR THE VIOLATION HEREOF.

THE CITY COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF CARMEL-BY-THE-SEA DOES ORDAIN AS FOLLOWS:

SECTION 1. The Ordinance Code of the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea is hereby amended by the addition to Part IV, Division 1 thereof of Article 14, Sections 594c, 594d, 594e, 594f, 594g, 594h, 594i, inclusive, which shall read as follows:

"Section 594c. For the purpose of this ordinance, the following terms shall be deemed and construed to have the meanings respectively ascribed to them in this section, unless from the particular context, it clearly appears that some other meaning is intended.

The term "taxicab" as used herein shall mean and include every motor vehicle used in the business of carrying passengers for hire, the destination and route of which are under the control of the passenger or passengers being carried therein.

The term "owner" shall mean and include every person, firm or corporation owning or controlling any taxicab or automobile for hire.

The term "driver" shall mean and include every person in actual charge and control of any taxicab as the driver thereof.

The term "motor vehicle" when used in this ordinance, means every self-propelled vehicle used for transportation of persons over the public highways otherwise than upon fixed rails or tracks.

"Section 594d. It shall be unlawful for any driver to operate or drive any taxicab unless the driver thereof has obtained a Driver's Permit as herein provided, and said permit is in full force and effect. The application for such a Driver's Permit shall be made to the Chief of Police, shall be in writing, and in duplicate, and the original thereof shall be duly acknowledged before some person lawfully authorized to administer oaths. Such original shall forthwith be transmitted to the City Clerk. Said application shall set forth the name, age and address of the applicant, his past experience in operating automobiles, the names and addresses of his employers during the preceding period of three (3) years, the number of his chauffeur's license, whether or not a chauffeur's license issued to him by the State of California or any other state or governmental agency has ever been suspended, cancelled or revoked, whether he has been convicted of a felony or a misdemeanor, the name and address of the owner by whom he is to be employed as a driver (said owner shall endorse the said application,) and such additional information as the Chief of Police of the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea may require.

"Section 594e. Upon application for a Driver's Permit, and before it shall be issued, the driver, whether the owner or otherwise, must evidence a proficient knowledge of the traffic laws of the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea and of the State of California, and demonstrate his ability to operate the type of motor vehicle for which the Driver's Permit is sought, to the satisfaction of the Chief of Police. Upon satisfying the foregoing requirements, said driver shall be fingerprinted by, and his record filed in, the Police Department, Bureau of Identification. Every driver's Permit issued hereunder shall set forth the name of the owner by whom said driver is employed and shall be valid only so long as he continues in the employ of such owner. Upon the termination of such employment, the said driver shall forthwith surrender his Driver's Permit to the Chief of Police. No such Driver's Permit shall be granted to any persons under the age of twenty-one (21) years. Such Driver's Permit may be denied upon substantial evidence of facts of either physical or moral deficiencies of the applicant which in the sound discretion of the Chief of Police would render such applicant not a competent person to operate a taxicab or automobile for hire; provided, however, that no permit shall be issued to any person who shall have been convicted in the courts of any state of the United States or in any United States court of any of the following offenses:

- (a) Any felony.
- (b) Driving a motor vehicle in a reckless manner, or while under the influence of an intoxicant or narcotics.
- (c) Pandering.
- (d) Using, possessing, selling, or transporting narcotics.
- (e) Imparting knowledge for the obtaining of narcotics or intoxicating liquors.
- (f) Assault and battery.
- (g) Any law or ordinance involving moral turpitude.
- (h) Violating any of the provisions of this ordinance.

No such Driver's Permit issued hereunder shall be transferable in any event.

All drivers employed by any given owner, while on duty, shall wear a distinctive badge bearing the driver's number. Only such badges shall be worn as have been approved by the Chief of Police for use by drivers employed by a particular owner. Badges shall be worn in a conspicuous position. Upon the termination of the employment of any driver, the owner for whom such driver has been working shall immediately give the Chief of Police written notice of such termination.

"Section 594f. The Chief of Police shall have the power to revoke or suspend any Driver's Permit issued hereunder in the event the holder thereof shall be found guilty of a violation of any of the provisions of this ordinance or shall be found guilty of reckless driving or if he has violated any other law, which violation, in the sound discretion of said official, shall be deemed sufficient evidence of the fact that said driver is not a competent person to operate the motor vehicle for which the Driver's Permit was issued. In the event of such revocation or suspension of a Driver's Permit, such certificate as may be issued in connection therewith shall be, by the holder thereof, forthwith surrendered to the Chief of Police.

"Section 594g. An application fee of One Dollar ($1.00) shall be required to be paid by each applicant for a Driver's Permit. All such application fees shall accompany the application and be paid to the tax collector of the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea.

"Section 594h. When any permit is granted hereunder, the Chief of Police shall issue to the grantee thereof a certificate giving the name and address of the said grantee, the nature of the permit granted, and the name and address of the owner.

"Section 594i. It shall be the duty of the Chief of Police of the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea to enforce the provisions of this ordinance."

SECTION 2. Ordinance Number 202 passed and adopted by the City Council of the City of Carmel-by-the-Sea on the 28th day of December, 1938 and all other ordinances and parts of ordinances in conflict herewith are hereby repealed.

SECTION 3. The City Clerk of the said City is hereby instructed to cause this ordinance to be published once in THE CARMEL PINE CONE-CYMBAL, the official newspaper of said City, within fifteen (15) days after its final passage and approval.

Four Arrested On Abortion Charges In The Highlands

Leonard and Elizabeth Frazier, 22-year old ex-medical student and his wife who were arrested last Thursday in a pre-dawn raid on a Carmel Highlands residence said by police to be an "abortion mill," were in the Salinas county jail this week, unable to raise $5,000 bail set by Judge Ray Baugh in Monterey Justice Court Wednesday.

Harry Sherman, 41 year old druggist, and Jerry Jordan, 33, Albany car salesman, accused, with the other two defendants, of operating a shuttle service for abortion cases between Oakland and the Highlands surgery, were also apprehended in the raid in which Oakland vice squad investigators and the Monterey County Sheriff's Office collaborated. Sherman and Jordan were released after posting $5,000 bail each. Date for preliminary hearings, to be held in Monterey, has not been set.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

We Both Won This One

Blew my top the other morning when I discovered a shirt I'd put on had two buttons missing.

"Joe," the missus says, "do you ever read what you write? For a man who writes newspaper pieces all about tolerance, you sometimes show a lot of race prejudice."

"Race prejudice!" I hollers. "No one can accuse me of that." "I mean prejudice against the entire human race," she interrupts with a smile. "Why get mad at the world over two little buttons?" That took the wind out of me.

From where I sit (as I told the missus that evening), a lot of us sometimes get too worked up over little things... Little differences of opinion or taste. One person prefers beer or ale, another prefers cider or lemonade. But why criticize the other fellow just because his tastes aren't the same as ours? "That sounds more like you, Joe," she laughs, snipping off a thread. (It so happens she was sewing on buttons.)

goal. Gargiulo, Laugenour, and Whitaker tanked free throws for 7 Carmel points, while Salinas dropped in two free throws. Shooting improved in the second half, Whitaker and Gargiulo hit field goals to put the Padres in front, 14 to 10 at the half. Gene Vandervort and Jim Hare caught fire in the second half to keep the locals in the ball game, although the lead changed hands several times during the last four minutes. Captain Vandervort, with 9 points, was high scorer for the Padres, closely followed by Whitaker's 8 markers. Whitaker and Hare turned in clever defensive games to throttle the Salinas forwards. Besides the above mentioned players, the following performed for the Padres: Tom Handley, Lannie Doolittle, Eric Short, Walt Frey, Denicio Narvaez, and Neils Reimers.

Although the Carmel lightweights had the best shot on the floor in the person of Bob Burgess, the classy Salinas five was too well-balanced and ran off with a 47-25 verdict. The Salinas lights are tops in the A league and a defeat by them is no disgrace. They presented a fast-running ball club which could hit with deadly accuracy around the free throw circle. The Padrecitos played them pretty even during the first half, trailing 18 to 14. In the third and fourth heats, the visitors, paced by a Chinese speed burner, named Gin, wore down the Padre defense and coasted to the 47-25 victory. The little Padres battled back all the way and looked good even in defeat. Bob Updike and Bill Daniels turned in fine floor games, while the shooting of Bob Burgess was the best seen in the Carmel gym this year.

Carmel,

Dear Mrs. Cook,

My letter to the Pine Cone last week about the movie of Hamlet at the Playhouse has brought me a letter which gave me so much pleasure that I asked the author if I might send it to the Pine Cone. It runs: "I enjoyed your letter about Hamlet so much. I'm so glad you spoke of the exquisite portrayal of Ophelia. What a beautiful piece of work that was! The little sister mischievousness, the delicate womanliness, the bewilderment as she realized the frustration of her love—Yes, and the sprig of rosemary laid on Hamlet's empty chair. That was superb art. Not having seen the great Hamlets I was tremendously impressed by Olivier's playing. I thought he did a wonderful thing in making the inner struggle so readable. The mind of Hamlet came forth and seemed to exist primarily. I thought his scenes with Gertrude were heartbreakingly beautiful — his love shining through his fury. But oh the cutting! Particularly at Hamlet's death. I couldn't believe it. A cold area of emptiness where the great words should shine". The letter was signed by a name dear to all Pine Cone readers, "Dora Hagemeier." I had not meant to imply that Laurence Olivier's playing of Hamlet was not tremendously impressive, as indeed it so often is. I hope never to forget his reception of the Ghost's account of his father's death. And he was particularly moving in all the quiet moments. I had only meant that he seemed to me less suited, temperamentally and physically, to Hamlet than to Henry V. But no criticism alters the fact that to have such a masterpiece available for the millions who go to movies, and in so impressive and fine a rendering, on the whole, is an event no one should miss.

Sincerely yours,
Harriet Keen Roberts.

Carmel,
Jan. 12, 1949.

Editor the Pine Cone:

A rather interesting feature of the current "unusual" weather which has not been noted by the commentators is the fact that for at least forty years the big freeze has been descending on California every twelve years. In 1913, January, I believe, there was such a freeze and much Carmel plumbing was disrupted. I was not here, but members of my family were, and I experienced the extreme cold in southern California, where it lasted almost a week and damaged the citrus crops extensively. In 1925—the newspapers give the date—came the next Arctic pattern, which I felt in Berkeley. In 1937 the state endured another visitation and water pipes of the unwary burst and auto radiators froze. Now is 1949—Beware of 1961!

TRASH BURNING VIOLATION

Kakuzo Kato, Monterey gardener, employed at the George Nelson residence at Monte Verde and Thirteenth, really put his foot in it Saturday afternoon.

Carmel police officers said Kato was spotted burning trash at the above address (a) without a permit (b) after noon (c) without adequate space cleared (d) and in a high wind. In spite of his protests that he knew nothing about local burning ordinances although he has worked in Carmel for the past several years, he was arraigned Tuesday, released on $50 bail, and advised to appear in City Court Saturday morning.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCH

"Life" is the subject of the Christian Science Lesson-Sermon for Sunday, January 16, with the Golden Text taken from John: "Labour not for the meat which perisheth, but for that meat which endureth unto everlasting life, which the Son of man shall give unto you" (6:27).

Included in the sermon are the following citations:

The Bible: "And the devil said unto him, 'If thou be the Son of God, command this stone that it be made bread. And Jesus answered him, saying, 'It is written, That man shall not live by bread alone, but by every word of God' (Luke 4:3, 4).

"Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "The Scriptures say, 'Man shall not live by bread alone, but by every word that proceedeth out of the mouth of God,' showing that Truth is the actual life of man; but mankind objects to making this teaching practical" (p. 410).

Hook Gets Diploma, Viljoen Gets Job At Board Meeting

"Ty" Hook had a one-man graduation Tuesday night when the Carmel Unified School District Board of Trustees signed his diploma, which was made out to John Trey Hook, "Ty," highly popular member of the class of 1946, had his school work interrupted by service in the Navy, where he continued his high school studies. He passed his G. E. D. test at Carmel High school on his return. He is the son of Mrs. Mortimer Henderson.

Other business of the board meeting consisted of such flotsam and jetsam as authorizing the expenditure of $100 more so that the Dolores Street School could be roofed with redwood shakes and approving Ben Viljoen for a permanent post as assistant to his father, Wynand Viljoen, head custodian. Ben worked in his father's place while the latter was incapacitated by a broken leg. When the Dolores Street School is ready, Ben will divide his time between it and the high school.

The highway department, in a letter, reported that a tracer had been sent out after the lost shipment containing the crossing light, which several months ago they had agreed to install at the junction of Ocean Avenue and Highway 101 in front of the high school. The pole has been up and ready for some time.

A letter from the Sanitary Board closed the exchange of communications and courtesies between the school and the Sanitary District that had involved a request on the part of the new real estate development north of the high school to join up their sanitary facilities with the high school sewer main, and the school board's refusal on the recommendation of the school architect, who pointed out that in the future the school main would be carrying to capacity for the school alone.

Red Eagle

(Continued from Page One) out of all proportion to what he received. He felt the injustices which the Indian Nations had suffered: yet had a great and abiding affection not only to the Texas where he was born, but to all of America that he knew. Through his performances for the U.S.O., the schools and the Boy Scouts he made many friends: I can name only the few I know, Mrs. Wilma Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. Schutz and their son, whose companionship, while he was taught to ride and make lariats, was a joy to Red Eagle, his old instructor. Police Chief Roy Fraties and the other police officers were indefatigable in calling on Red Eagle when they could find time, as were Mr. Anderson, Mr. Sly and other workers at Mr. Murphy's Lumber Yard, where was Red Eagle's little house. All of these would bear witness to his gratitude and the emphasis he placed on friendship. In this last year of his life he was especially moved by the warmth shown by scores of Carmel people who signed a petition on his behalf. For some years he had been a practicing Catholic, and for his godmother, Lady Kinnoull, he showed an especial affection, reverence and gratitude. He had, this wanderer now at rest, something of the mystical trustfulness of a child, and took delight, he who was a chieftain and could still flash into pride, in obedience and humility. No one who loved him can lament at his release from pain and illness: but he felt it sad and hard that he had to be in a hospital far from familiar sights and sounds. Yet, he knows now that it may be good for men to have that little dying of separation: it is a kind of practice death. He is at home at last, in whatever circle he is, waiting: at home in the membership of a Nation greater than any earthly company.

Colder'n Blitzen All Around Here, But It May Warm Up

(Continued from Page One) ters, and several cases of frozen pipes were reported. Lowest thermometer reading (unofficial) this week in Carmel was 17 early Monday morning.

In the Salinas area the record low temperature was 19.8, recorded Tuesday. Approximately 75 per cent of remaining celery crops had been lost by the beginning of the week, and broccoli, artichokes and carrots also suffered, although to a lesser degree.

Freak performance of the season was a quarter of an inch snowfall at San Lucas and King City early Wednesday, first since a light flurry recorded in 1932. Snow had been predicted for the Monterey Bay area, but had not shown up Thursday afternoon.

Blood Bank Day Set For Jan. 24

Monday, January 24, will offer Carmel citizens their next opportunity to be blood donors. The Blood Donor Center at the Army and Navy YMCA, El Estero St., Monterey, will be open from 10:45 to 2:00. All those who can do so are urged to get in touch with the Carmel Red Cross for an appointment on that day.

Since the National Blood Program has been in effect on the Monterey Peninsula, there have been three collections. The blood taken at those times was stored at the Monterey Peninsula Community, and Monterey County Hospitals.

A qualified physician, registered nurses and laboratory technicians are always in the Center. All persons between the ages of 21 and 60 weighing over 115 pounds may apply for the opportunity to contribute to the Bank.

RARE BIRDS AT SLOUGH

Audubon members and local naturalists held impromptu meetings throughout the week at the Carmel River Mouth to see the rare collection of birds there: 7 whistling swans, 5 Canada Geese, 2 white fronted geese and 4 Emperor Geese. The latter are exceedingly rare along the Pacific Coast, and were being observed for the first time by almost all the local people who gathered at the slough. The other birds are occasional winter visitors, whose calls in this area are sufficiently rare to make them an event.

LONG WHILE GETTING HERE

Mr. and Mrs. H. Robert Beall who have recently opened the Beall Health Center at Mission and Fifth streets have, so Mrs. Beall says "been fifteen years getting to Carmel". "Way down there in the South Pacific, while I was in the Navy, I used to look toward the horizon in what I hope was the right direction and say to myself—'Out there is Carmel, and that's where we're going', and here we are." Mr. and Mrs. Beall are both registered nurses, Mrs. Beall having taken her training at the Lakeview Hospital in Danville, Illinois, her home town. Mr. Beall, who was connected with the California State Board of Health before the war, took his intensive training at Mare Island U.S. Navy Medical School, and for the past three years was on the staff of the Palo Alto Doctors Clinic.

The Bealls are living temporarily in Pacific Grove until they can find a house in Carmel.

Work Of Sewering Point Underway

The Carmel Sanitary District engineer was authorized Monday night to proceed with plans for the installation of sewage collecting lines on Carmel Point, following requests by property owners presented to the board by Carmel, Unincorporated, several weeks ago. Also to be included in the program are homes on Scenic Road. Both areas have long been members of the district and have paid assessments as such, but have not until now chosen to avail themselves of the sewage service.

Plans and specifications are expected to be adopted at the Board's next regular meeting in February, followed by official notice of intention to proceed issued to the petitioners. At that time a public hearing to consider protests will be held.
